

Cable Excess

Metropolitan Home partnered with Showtime on a showhouse inspired by the network's original series—“Californication,” “Dexter,” “The L Word,” “The Tudors,” “United States of Tara” and “Weeds.” Designers, including Jamie Drake, Vicente Wolf, Tori Golub and Amy Lau, created the rooms.

— Barbara Thau

1 | ‘United States of Tara’
The multiple personalities of Tara are embodied in the space designed by Tori Golub.

2 | ‘Californication’
Jamie Drake created a study—complete with a tower of books lit from within—to reflect the world of hedonistic writer Hank Moody.

3 | ‘The L Word’
Vicente Wolf created a world of luscious luxury to reflect Showtime’s chronicle of glamorous lesbians.

4 | ‘Weeds’
The room designed for the show about a drug-dealing mom, was designed by Matthew White and Frank Webb and features an organic theme with hemp carpeting and furniture in biomorphic shapes.

5 | ‘Dexter’
Amy Lau came up with a dining room that calls to mind meticulously organized chaos. (also background photo)

6 | ‘The Tudors’
Laura Kinar designed a regal, opulent room to reflect the time of Henry VIII.

